AIRCRAFT DESIGNER APPROVED TOOLS

The tools offered in this section have been selected by professional aircraft designers and builders as being either necessary or highly desirable for working with composite structures.

KUT-MASTER FOAM CUTTING FRAME

These custom-built foam cutting frames can help produce professional results in foam cutting for the amateur builder. Constructed of 1-1/8" O.D. aluminum tubing, the heli-arc welded frame is lightweight yet extremely durable. The frames come completely pre-wired and ready to attach to the voltage controls shown below, and a tensioning system maintains uniform wire tension throughout the cutting process. The frames are stocked in 3 standard lengths, and custom frames are available on request (send sketch). Cutting depth is 11". Weight- 5 lbs.

MICHAEL ENGINEERING EPOXY RATIO PUMPS

This highly recommended pump, aptly called "Sticky-Stuff Dispenser", will save about $50 in epoxy in building a VE type aircraft, plus time, mess, dermatitis, temper and risk of bad batches. Used by individual craftsmen and professionals alike, it is a practical engineering tool especially designed to eliminate the sticky, messy, costly hand proportioning of epoxy resins. It is well built and should last through the construction of dozens of aircraft. The Sticky-Stuff Dispenser assures accurate measurement of low-viscosity (under 3,500 centipoises) unfilled epoxy resin. The standard Model A dispenser pump delivers a ratio of 100 parts of resin to 44 parts of hardener.
